EAST LOOKS TO THIS COAST

Coal Situation Occupies Close Attention of Government, Premier Shows in Address

EFFORTS TO CUT B.C. TAXATION

Hon. S. P. Tolmie says that the people in Eastern Canada are giving a great deal more attention to British Columbia than formerly. On his recent visit to the East, he told the Sanich Conservatives last night, this was brought home very forcibly. The importance of this province and its production was very much in the public mind. He was asked about British Columbia investments.

The Premier told of his interviews with Hon. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, on the matter of good roads and kindred subjects. The Eastern Premier had pointed out the importance of getting the tourist trade, and to do this it was necessary to have good roads. The Premier of Ontario had brought in the five-cent gas tax some years ago for the purpose, among other things, of getting something from the tourists for the upkeep of the roads.

LOSS OF COAL TRADE

Dr. Tolmie dealt with the matter of the depression in the coal trade, and the conversion of once thriving colliery towns into a condition where the citizens came asking for assistance. In order to help in this matter, the Government had imposed the fuel oil tax during last session. The two railways which had come with the statement that this tax would mean that the two companies would pay $250,000 a year as a result. This it was pointed out, would be a heavy burden and would operate against the enterprises in the province.

It was in order that the whole situation might be looked into that a round table conference had been called for June, when the situation would be studied from all standpoints.

The Premier pointed out that great progress was being made in the direction of the use of pulverized coal. While in Seattle recently he learned that an electric plant was being run by oil at ninety cents a barrel. If the price went up to $1.10 it would be cheaper. It was stated, to use pulverized coal. There were a number of hotels and other large buildings adopting pulverized coal, and the effort was being made to try to induce the big new C.N.R. hotel in Vancouver to adopt this latter type of fuel.

REFUTES TO MR. PATULLO

He denied the statement which Mr. T. D. Patullo had ascribed to him (Dr. Tolmie) after election that he would reduce taxation and wipe out the income tax in the succession duties. The Premier read from his manifesto showing that he had stated that every effort would be made to lower taxation where possible and to provide for a more equitable basis for the succession duties to be adopted as fast as practicable. In this line the insurance money which was bequeathed was freed from succession dues.

THIRD READING

OTTAWA, May 13.—Third reading was given in the House of Commons tonight to a measure respecting the Calgary and Fernie Railway Company. The bill authorizes an extension of time for a period of two years in which to construct a line of railway from Calgary through the Kananaskis Pass along the route of the Elk River to Fernie, B.C. Previous to the carrying of the motion for final reading in the Commons, the measure was put through the committee stage.

Survey of Peace River Block Will Receive Attention

The proposition presented by the major railway companies or by the Government, there were other interests in Canada, and also in the United States, which were anxious to investigate with the idea of acquiring.

FIG IN A FOLK

He said that he did not believe in having a "pig in a folk," and later to find that valuable resources had been given away. This was what prompted the Premier in getting the fullest information as to the subsidy lands.

ASPIRIN

To relieve the worst rheumatic pain is a very simple matter. Aspirin does it every time! It's something that can always take. Genuine Aspirin tablets are everywhere. Look for the Bayer Cross on each tablet.

People Are Tired of Liberal Regime, Dr. Manion States

Regarding counterintelligence duties, the commodities now embraced within them were imported to the amount of only $10,000,000 last year. That was a mere bagatelle, said Dr. Manion.

BRITISH PREFERENCE

Regarding the British preference there was more "fakery, sham, make-believe and humbug" in those schedules than anything else. The Minister of Finance had rearranged the schedules, juggled them up and down, and no one knew the meaning of them.

TAKEN FROM CONSERVATIVES

The good thing in the budget had been taken from the Conservatives, Dr. Manion asserted. The more investigation given this budget the more "sham and trickery" was found, said Dr. Manion. The budget was a combination of "futility and humbug." It was a budget to get the votes of both Protectionists and Free Traders by deceiving the one and betraying the other. It was a political device, pure and simple. The sooner the low tariff people of the West realized that they had been betrayed, the better for Canada, Dr. Manion asserted.

FEDERAL SPEAKERS

Support for the budget came from coming Hon. A. C. Hardy, the newly chosen Speaker, and in paying tribute to the late Hon. Hewitt Bosworth, the former Speaker, and late Hon. G. C. Desautels, both of whom died during the Easter recess.

Hon. A. C. Hardy was chosen Speaker at a caucus of the Liberal senators this afternoon, and the Government concurred in the appointment. Tonight, Hon. N. A. Belcourt, Liberal leader in the absence of Hon. Raoul Dandurand, and Hon. W. S. Willoughby, Conservative leader, both paid tribute to him when the Senate opened.

The same two senators acted as spokesmen in referring to the death of the former Speaker and of Senator Desautels. Canada, they said, had lost two esteemed and valued legislators.

LIQUOR EXPORT BILL

About twenty-five bills have accumulated during the recess for the Senate's consideration. Particular attention will be focused there tomorrow when the Government bill prohibiting the export of liquor to United States comes up for third reading. It is very likely there will be a six or seven day session.

Other bills that may prove contentious are those returning the natural resources of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta to their former owners, and the Government measure to compel all Government contractors to pay fair wages to their employees.

Pioneer of Royal City Passes Away

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 13.—Mr. Peter Roy, sixty-three, Royal City pioneer, resident at 518 Ash Street, died today at St. Mary's Hospital. Born in the Government mill lived in New Westminster forty-three years. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. A. L. Oakley, Victoria, and Mrs. G. G. Dench, North Vancouver.

Survey of Peace River Block

The proposition presented by the major railway companies or by the Government, there were other interests in Canada, and also in the United States, which were anxious to investigate with the idea of acquiring.

The Premier said that he felt most hopeful of being in a position of getting rid of the debt which had been carried by the province in connection with the road.

He said that he did not believe in having a "pig in a folk," and later to find that valuable resources had been given away. This was what prompted the Premier in getting the fullest information as to the subsidy lands.

In making the survey of the Peace River Block this summer, the Government felt that it was well to have exact information with regard to the country that was now coming under the control of the province.

For some weeks the Premier has been negotiating with the two transcontinental railways for an agreement covering the Peace River Block survey in the belief that this land to be turned over to the province shortly will play a vitally important part in the future of British Columbia's railway, and in the development of the whole northern half of the province.

The Government and the two railways will share the cost of the work jointly as before.

Complaint Against Doctor Is Heard; Decision Reserved

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Three witnesses testified this morning relative to a complaint of unprofessional conduct against Dr. Victor E. Leckner, of Port Moody, B.C., by Charles Oliver, son of the late Premier Oliver.

The hearing resumed before a committee of the medical council at the Courthouse this morning. The committee, it is understood, after hearing evidence and consideration of the matter, reserves its recommendation to the medical council.

WEATHER FOGGY

The weather was foggy when Miss Johnson left Victoria this morning, she said. The journey, however, was uneventful until strong headwinds and heavy rains were encountered at Akrah. She crossed the Yomas Mountain range at a height of 12,000 feet, and then, owing to bad visibility, came down to 200 feet.

HITS U.S. TRADE TO EXTENT OF ABOUT $225,000,000

OTTAWA, May 13.—Canada's new tariff will affect American trade with the Dominion "adversely in most instances" to the amount of $225,000,000, it is estimated in an analysis of the Dunning budget from the United States' point of view, which has been forwarded to Washington by Lynn W. Meeking, Commercial Attache, and A. H. Thienemann, Assistant Trade Commissioner of the United States in Ottawa.

TRAGEDY LURKS IN COUNTRY WALK

HALIFAX, N.S., May 13.—Charred almost beyond recognition, and with hands and feet completely burned away, the body of Goldie Drake was found this afternoon, covered with moss, in a natural depression near the Gelter's Mountain Road. Mrs. Gertrude Drake, the mother, is being held by country authorities.

CHANNEL TUNNEL ISSUE ARISES

LONDON, May 13.—The Channel tunnel question came up in Parliament again today, when Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald declared the military side of the project had been engaging the attention of the Government ever since the report of the committee, which had examined the whole matter in the light of the latest developments in methods of warfare, and, to meet changing conditions, new methods had to be worked out, the Prime Minister said. It would be a profound mistake to rush an inquiry, only to find afterwards that some essential factor had been overlooked, he urged. As soon as the defence committee's recommendations were available, the whole question would be examined by the Cabinet, and an announcement of the Government's policy would then be made.

easy to impose British air methods or even subsidies upon the Dominion. Britain's subsidies to civil aviation had as its chief aim the maintenance of Imperial lines of communication, not the building up of a great system in any one country. The discussion came during second reading of the Air Transport (Subsidy Agreements) Bill, under which $1,000,000 a year should be spent for the next ten years on subsidies to aid civil air transportation.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for the Air in the last two Conservative administrations, asked the Government plans regarding the future development of airships, such as the R-100 and R-101. He hoped the flight of the latter ship might prove the inauguration of a regular service between London and the Dominions. Rear Admiral M. P. Suter thought Canada should be approached with an idea to develop a system of air services to the West Indies.

AVIATRIX IS UNDAUNTED BY PLANE MISHAP

Miss Johnston is still two days ahead of the flight made by Bert Hinkler, British pilot, when he set a record for the England-Australia jaunt of fifteen days.

WEATHER FOGGY

The weather was foggy when Miss Johnson left Victoria this morning, she said. The journey, however, was uneventful until strong headwinds and heavy rains were encountered at Akrah. She crossed the Yomas Mountain range at a height of 12,000 feet, and then, owing to bad visibility, came down to 200 feet.

Following the coastline and using a railway as a landmark, Miss Johnson reached Insein, where she mistook playing field for the race course at Rangoon. The ground was too small for a good landing, so she continued south, but, unable to find Rangoon city, turned back and landed. She admitted she had a few moments of anxiety.

HITS U.S. TRADE TO EXTENT OF ABOUT $225,000,000

OTTAWA, May 13.—Canada's new tariff will affect American trade with the Dominion "adversely in most instances" to the amount of $225,000,000, it is estimated in an analysis of the Dunning budget from the United States' point of view, which has been forwarded to Washington by Lynn W. Meeking, Commercial Attache, and A. H. Thienemann, Assistant Trade Commissioner of the United States in Ottawa.

The agents are said to stress in their reports the fact that other parts of the British Empire are threatening to raise similar barriers against United States products, and that Canada is America's best customer, buying $800,000,000 annually from its neighbor.

TRAGEDY LURKS IN COUNTRY WALK

HALIFAX, N.S., May 13.—Charred almost beyond recognition, and with hands and feet completely burned away, the body of Goldie Drake was found this afternoon, covered with moss, in a natural depression near the Gelter's Mountain Road. Mrs. Gertrude Drake, the mother, is being held by country authorities.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Drake set out from the home of her sister in the north end of the city with the intention of visiting her father. Late in the afternoon she arrived alone, without a hat or coat, or the basket she had carried on setting out.

These, she said, had disappeared with the child, while the mother lay near the road in a fainting fit. Mrs. Drake was in a distraught condition when she reached her father's home, and could give no coherent account of the day's event.

Search parties last night could find no trace of the little girl, but at 6 o'clock this afternoon the child's body was found.

nomination at the caucus. An open ballot was taken with votes being accorded to Rt. Hon. George Graham, Brockville; Senator A. E. Copp, Sackville, N.B.; and Senator Clifford Robinson, Moncton, N.B. In addition to the new Speaker, it is definitely understood, however, that Senators Graham, Copp and Robinson were not aspirants for the Speakership at any time; and immediately after the taking of the ballot selection of Senator Hardy as Speaker for the remainder of the sixteenth Parliament was declared unanimous.

ANGERS AND HUNTERS ARE DISPLEASED

 The States referred to being available. The matter of game administration could never be satisfactorily handled until the hunters and the fishermen controlled it, collecting the money and expending it in bettering hunting and fishing facilities. A lot of attention had been devoted to propagating pheasants, when the country had two native game birds that could not be excelled, the blue and the willow grouse, which were receiving no attention. The Government should appreciate the fact that it is on the wrong track in the matter of game control and start all over again. In connection with game fish, Secretary Monteth told of cordial relations with the Dominion fisheries officials and instances many occasions when he had welcome co-operation from them.

Reference being made to the situation in connection with the Goldstream watershed and the restrictions placed on hunting within its limits, the sentiment of the meeting was that a splendid opportunity existed for the city of Victoria to work with the Fish and Game Association in the development of the area for the future benefit of Southern Vancouver Island. Secretary Monteth brought up the matter of a licence fee for fishermen, the amount, if agreed to and collected, to be equally divided between the Fisheries Department and the association. He instanced the foreigners who had no interest in the country, throwing their rods and lures, fishing without restriction of any kind. This was nowhere else. He suggested a licence fee of $1.00 for all bona fide residents and a licence fee of $5 for others than British subjects. The meeting authorized Mr. Monteth to advise headquarters that the members of the Victoria association would be willing to be taxed $1, and endorsed the tax of 45 for aliens. Secretary Monteth also introduced the advisability of reserving Prospect Lake for fly fishing. He cited trout fishing fish less than the size limit. The suggestion was adopted unanimously by the meeting.

In connection with a closed season for bass, it was suggested that fishing only be permitted between June 15 and October 31.
SECRETARY PRAISED
 President Ernest L. Tait occupied the chair, and during his report of what had been accomplished in the past, extolled the service of the secretary, Mr. Roger Monteth. In the election of officers, Mr. Tait was unanimously re-elected; Mr. W. N. Lenfesty was made vice-president, and Mr. Monteth, although he asked to be relieved, was prevailed upon to continue pro tem, a successor to be found as soon as possible. The general committee consisted of Messrs. W. A. Davis, C. B. Burr, H. D. Patterson, A. W. Evans, E. V. Sells and Captain W. E. Tait. Secretary Monteth was authorized to choose his own sub-committee, and named Mr. H. D. Patterson as chairman of the fish committee, with Captain Tait and Mr. Sells, the general committee as a whole to also comprise the game committee.

Indignant Protests Against War Book

OTTAWA, May 13.—Indignant protests are being voiced here by prominent military men against Charles Yale Harrison's war book "General Die in Bed." The book, which has just been published in England, paints an unflattering picture of Canadian troops in France in 1918, particularly in connection with the entry into Arras, where the author claims Canadian soldiers were guilty of license, drunkenness and looting.

At Allahabad the congress committee of workers engaged in an all-day session urging and rejecting plans for stronger resistance. The massive followers of Mahatma Gandhi seemed to have asserted the stronger influence, as comparatively mild measures were voted. Mahabeshwar, summer capital of the Bombay presidency, tonight was the scene of a gathering of all high officials of the presidency, summoned post haste by Sir Frederick Sykes, the governor. This conference immediately followed seizure of Sholapur by the insurgent natives and restoration of control under military law.

LIMELIGHT TURNS TO DOUKHOBORS

Police Deny Recurrence of Nude Parade—Fanatics Arrive at Nelson

NELSON, May 13.—No arrests have been made yet of Doukhobors believed to have fired the Ymir Hospital, sixteen miles from here, early Sunday. Provincial Police, officers are working on the case.
 Provincial Police denied that fanatic Doukhobors at Porto Rico had been on a nude parade. The camp is under police surveillance.
 But, despite police denials, residents of Saino and Ymir and motorists stated that several Doukhobors from the fanatic camp appeared on the highway in the nude on Saturday.
 Almost daily trucks of Doukhobors are arriving in Nelson from Prairie points. It is known that a large number of these are fanatics. In order to keep a check upon their activities at Porto Rico on the Salmon River and at Slocan Park, on the Skeena River, police are daily and nightly patrolling these areas.

There are lots of things we want to see before we die. The Taj Mahal, Switzerland, the South Sea Islands, and Paul Whiteman getting into a rumble seat.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH, CATARRH, DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of someone who is troubled with catarrh of the ears, nose or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have saved the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease, and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.
 Ears, sinuses and nose discharges are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, where frequently it leads to deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the treatment of catarrh, is a constitutional treatment, and should prove immediately effective in all cases.
 Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Permut (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little brandy. Boil for five minutes. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief. If the disease is severe, however, closed nostrils should even, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. The preparation is easy to make, and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises, or is liable to deafness, should give this treatment a trial. (Adv.)

Ejected Second Time

WINNIPEG, May 13.—For the second time in two weeks, Alderman W. N. Kollinsky, leader of the Communist party in Canada, tonight was ejected from the City Council Chamber. Ejection of the Communist leader came during a fiery meeting of the council, which was still in session shortly before midnight. Two weeks ago he was charged with uttering certain alleged misleading statements concerning Mr. J. A. Simpson, chairman of the unemployment committee, when he was present at a meeting to apologize, a constable escorted him from the chamber,

SOVIETS OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR SAFER TRAFFIC

Movement Advances for a Brighter and Safer Moscow—Reckless Driving Challenged

CHEAPER CAFES ENCOURAGED

(Copyright, 1929, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)
 MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., May 13.—The movement for a brighter and safer Moscow continues. Not only are the "wild children" being removed forcibly from the streets, with benefit to all concerned, but the streets themselves are undergoing a process known in the United States as "safety first."

To this end, an announcement is made that wild driving chauffeurs will be expelled from Moscow. As local chauffeurs are particularly reckless, the mere act of crossing a busy street now requires agility and courage, and Moscow as yet having no automatic traffic signals, the efforts of the policemen to regulate traffic necessarily leave something to be desired.

CHECKING JAYWALKING
 However, in some ways Moscow is in advance of the standards usual in American cities. Here a jaywalker is sternly and instantly punished. If he crosses a thoroughfare in the centre of the block, an officer stops him and administers a fine, usually by kopecks, or 12 red half-cents, which must be paid on the spot. The officer is required to hand out a receipt for all fines collected. Similarly, if a man clings to the outside of a crowded street car, a policeman takes him off and fines him, likewise collecting kopecks if the passenger jumps from a moving car, or leaves by the wrong door.

CHEAPER CAFES
 The Government drive for improvement of cheaper cafes and restaurants will help brighten Moscow. Inspectors have visited many eating places, reporting a shortage of roasting pans and kettles and other details tending to decrease the joy of eating and injure the popularity of a public eating place.

This matter is of high importance, as the Government is endeavoring earnestly to free millions of women from the slavery of the cook stove by teaching families to use communal dining halls.

A. Heaps (Labor), and Mr. J. S. Woodsworth (Labor).

RAILWAY FINANCES

The Federal Parliament is being asked to provide $61,000,000 for new enterprises of the Canadian National Railways. The sum appears an unusually heavy one in view of the present conditions affecting development and in the light of the losses suffered by the state-owned railways during the last fiscal year. In that twelve months the Government was called upon to pay a very substantial sum of money to make good the deficit in interest charges due to the public. Mr. C. Dunning's Budget statement pointed out that the accounts of the Canadian National Railways for 1929 showed net earnings of $36,389,058, a sum available to pay interest on securities in the hands of the public. The interest charges, however, amounted to $45,258,920 so that there was a resultant deficit of $8,869,862. That there should have been such a large deficit was due not altogether to the business conditions of last Autumn and Winter but also because of an increase in fixed charges through large expenditures undertaken in recent years on capital account for branch lines, terminals, rolling stock and other additions and improvements. The $61,000,000 to be added to capital expenditures this year will increase those interest charges very substantially.

In the past fiscal year the Government was called upon to pay $1,628,907.21 on account of the merchant marine now operated by the Canadian National Railways. This sum included operating deficits. The deficit on the Eastern lines of the Canadian National Railways was $4,526,645, which the Government had to make good. Moreover, on account of the Canadian National (West Coast) Steamships, Limited, the exchequer had to find a sum of $862,339.98. In 1929, according to the Budget speech, the guarantee of the Dominion was given to bond issues of the Canadian National Railways Company aggregating $120,000,000. This was divided into two flotations, the proceeds of which were devoted to payment of $40,000,000 of temporary bank loans, the remainder having been used, or being in process of expenditure, for the acquisition of railways and the construction of branch lines and terminals.

The Budget gives anything but a clear statement of the finances of the Canadian National Railways. Beyond the figures noted it does not indicate what the country is paying each year for the privilege of state-ownership, but the amount is a heavy one for both railways and steamships. During the past year there have been substantial increases in the public obligation owing to the heavy decreases in the revenues of the Canadian National enterprises. Each year, too, new capital charges are laid on the public because of the desire for expansion by the Canadian National, and for 1930-1931 the loan for such purposes is to be $61,000,000. The C.N.R. evidently considers that it has a purpose of fortune in the taxpayers of the Dominion and one upon which it can draw throughout the years whether or not, from an economic standpoint, they be fat or lean. State-ownership is going ahead with expenditures with increasing momentum. The taxpayers are being mulcted heavily so that the Government-controlled railways can enter into direct, and often unprofitable competition, with private ownership, although in the privately controlled railways, chiefly the Canadian Pacific, the taxpayers have very large sums invested. The situation is an anomalous one which calls for reconsideration. That it has a purpose to continue indefinitely is a reflection on the character of the wisdom which controls the direction of economic affairs.

It is an anomalous situation, for instance, that so many of the taxpayers of Canada should be called upon to subscribe the dividends which they draw from Canadian Pacific Railway investments to buttress up the financial fortunes of a railway which is in direct competition with the enterprise in which their capital has been invested. The drag upon the taxpayers' resources for this purpose is becoming heavier each year, and this is because there seems to be little or no parliamentary influence exerted to keep the Canadian National Railways within the reasonable bounds of non-competitive expenditure. That company is duplicating services already provided for in an adequate fashion by the Canadian Pacific Railway. There is a notable illustration of this in the decision of the State-owned company to establish ferries on the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle route. Economic conditions do not warrant this new service. The triangular route is now catered to in a wholly satisfactory fashion by the B.C. Coast Steamships Service, and that company has consistently increased its facilities as needed, and, indeed, has often shown a vision in advance of requirements. This year it is to be subjected to competition that can only be regarded as unfair. The example thus afforded is one that, in other lines of endeavor by the State-owned railway system, is being duplicated in many parts of the Dominion. The public has, so far, failed to awaken to the gravity of a situation created by a condition whereby the Canadian National Railways is administered on the supposition that unlimited funds are at its disposal. Its administration maintains this belief despite the alarming drop in revenues of the past fiscal year. The demand has gone up for new capital expenditures aggregating $61,000,000. This sum means new interest charges amounting to nearly two and a quarter millions, to say nothing of sinking fund charges.

There ought to be some authority in the country which would have control of the finances of the Canadian National Railways so as to prevent administrative outlays of a wasteful competitive character. There is this authority supposedly in Parliament but the Government of the day shows symptoms of being under the thumb of the Canadian National management. It subscribes to too many new enterprises indulged in by that State-owned enterprise, and its followers in Parliament assume the role of rubber stamps. The situation grows more serious all the time. Capital expenditures, within limits, are an essential of railway development, but they should be devised on the ground of certainty that all such will prove remunerative from their inception. That is not the case with many of the new enterprises being engaged in by the Canadian National Railways, and for such a course of action the Government of the day is responsible. The railway situation in Canada needs an impartial investigation by economic experts. State ownership has led to an orgy of expenditure which, in the aggregate, is not in the economic interests of the people of Canada.

INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS

The Federal Budget provides that donations to the extent of 10 per cent of the net revenue of the taxpayer to any church, university, college, school or hospital in Canada shall be allowed as a deduction from the tax on income. It would be interesting to know how the Government is going to arrive at this exemption, or if the calculation is going to be left to the honor of the taxpayers. There is no exemption to be granted for relief to the unemployed, or to other organized or unorganized charities. The list is specific. It places upon the taxpayer the onus of a new bookkeeping. The contributions to the plate or collection box in church will in future have to be estimated for income tax exemption. As to contributions to universities, schools and colleges, it is not clear if the exemption will apply to taxes paid for the subvention of State-owned institutions. Should that be the case it will be almost impossible for taxpayers to make an inventory of their share in such expenditures, and it is the same in connection with hospitals.

Mr. Dunning has chosen a somewhat peculiar way to afford relief in income tax. On the face of it that relief will only apply to the rich for the poor are the recipients rather than the donors of such benefits as are to be exempted. The chief point of interest is the method of calculation and the ability of the Government to keep the accounts on claims for exemption under the new dispensation. It would have been far better to give a definite all round decrease in income tax rather than still further complicate a system which already proves a bugbear to the taxpayers in the making out of their income tax sheets.

THE COST OF MEAT

All housewives should be interested in the demonstration to be given today in the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. J. H. Cahill. The demonstration, showing various cuts of beef, is under the auspices of both the Federal and Provincial Governments. It is an attempt to show the public how they can buy one of the chief necessities of life on a rising market more cheaply than they do at present. The impression is gaining ground that the price of meats is rising too high. There are several factors to be considered, but one of them undoubtedly is the desire of the public for what they consider the best in meats and their neglect of portions which contain just as much nourishment and are equally palatable. The result is that a large portion of the carcass is wasted. It follows that someone has to pay for the waste and that someone is almost invariably the housewife.

There is another factor of prime importance, namely, the increasing credit that is given to housewives and to all those who have accounts with butchers. It is to be hoped that Mr. Cahill will deal with this aspect of the rising cost of meats. His demonstration, which will commence at 3 p.m. today, is free to the public and should arouse interest among all those who wish to effect savings in the household budgets.

Mr. Charles Dunning, the Minister of Finance, says Canada will be no party to a "tariff war." The fact remains that such a war is being fought all over the earth. The Government of Mr. Mackenzie King is "too proud to fight."

EMBARRASSING

A well-known writer visited a jail to take notes for an article on prison life. On returning home he described what he had seen, and his description made a deep impression on the mind of his little daughter.

A week later the writer and his little girl were in a train which stopped at a station near a gloomy building.

"What place is that?" asked a passenger.

"The county jail," another answered, promptly.

Whereupon Mary embarrassed her father and aroused the suspicion of the other passengers by asking in a loud, shrill voice, "Is that the jail you were in, father?"

God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are always ready to guard and defend it.—Daniel Webster.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

Sir—Would you allow me, through your columns, to ask the postal authorities if it is possible to give the people living on rural routes a better address?

The inhabitants of the city and urban district have their mail addressed to number of house and name of street, which is easy to find, while all that is considered necessary for hundreds of families and many business firms living on the rural routes, is one common address "Seattle number," which no one can find without difficulty, only the courier.

A postal address should serve more purposes than telling the postman where to go. In business it is a valuable asset, and a convenience to all.

Victoria is the circulating office for rural routes, ranging in length of from twenty-five to fifty miles. Under the present system a letter addressed to a Mr. Johnson, South of Victoria, would be delivered to a gentleman living somewhere between Victoria and Cordova Bay on a route twenty-five miles long. "Seattle number," which is not clear if the exemption will apply to taxes paid for the subvention of State-owned institutions.

Should that be the case it will be almost impossible for taxpayers to make an inventory of their share in such expenditures, and it is the same in connection with hospitals.

Mr. Dunning has chosen a somewhat peculiar way to afford relief in income tax. On the face of it that relief will only apply to the rich for the poor are the recipients rather than the donors of such benefits as are to be exempted.

The chief point of interest is the method of calculation and the ability of the Government to keep the accounts on claims for exemption under the new dispensation. ## MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Sir—On my way home from Victoria to Seattle my mind was filled with the very splendid thing the Victoria Music Festival Association is doing. I thought of its cultural value to all, its educational value and its far-reaching practical value in the life of the city. How it must help the choir leaders, the orchestra leader, the program maker of clubs and societies, the teacher of music, poetry and dance, and, not least, the mother who is monitor of the practice of her children.

The very evident happy spirit of co-operation that pervaded was inspiring, and I want to say that I enjoyed thoroughly my connection with such a worth-while institution, as well as the programmes I found time to hear.

 (Pulse-Dancer Adjudicator)

THE FESTIVAL AND ITS CRITICS

Sir—Though a comparatively new resident in the neighborhood of Victoria, I have lived here long enough to follow with interest three of the four musical festivals which have taken place in the city. That so young an institution should have attained so high a degree of excellence is a tribute to the enthusiasm and capacity of the promoters, who, together with the adjudicators and competitors, should be protected by leading a "worth-while" institution, and tactics of faddists and professional malcontents.

Precisely, the festival is intended for amateurs, but an actual perusal of your correspondence columns at this period of the year would almost lead to the conclusion that its prime purpose should be to grind professional axes. We are usually treated in advance to warnings of the "quality" of the adjudicators, and the "quality" of the competitors, but of outraged instructors; and almost as a matter of course, in some quarters to turn success to good account by means of cheap publicity.

In my years of intimate association with festivals elsewhere, I have known nothing to compare with it. It is a reproach which needs for its removal the lack of public disapproval and the stout maintenance of disinterested criticism.

GEO. H. MATHER.

THE AMERICAN FILM TRUST

Sir—I wrote to you on March 13 with regard to the monopoly of American films and I would feel grateful if you kindly spare me space to say a few more words on the same subject in connection with events that are transpiring today. I make this request as I believe that very few of the general public truly realize what is happening here in their midst in Canada.

In my previous letter I pointed out the trend of the hold that American films had obtained in the Dominion, but since then a proposal has been made whereby the Famous Players-Lasker Corporation is to be sold in its entirety to the Paramount Famous Lasker Corporation of America by the directors of the former. The proposal is that the Paramount Company should exchange four of its shares for five of the Canadian Company, which, from a financial point of view, is obviously unfair, especially when one considers that the computed earnings of the Canadian company are $6.24 per share as compared with $5 per share of the American Company. According to reports, offers were received from the Gaumont British and a Canadian corporation of investors which were turned down by the directors and yet as soon as a much lower offer came along from the U.S.A. these same directors jump at it. If this American deal is consummated:

(1) It will give the American monopoly of motion pictures in Canada which is worth at least $100,000,000.

(2) It will mean more employment for Americans at the expense of the Canadian workers.

(3) It will mean no benefit whatsoever to Canadians, all profits (which have hitherto been spent and retained in this country) would go to swell the American coffers.

(4) It will mean that one company, (and an American one at that, remember) will have complete control of the whole of the Canadian film business, and exhibition of films throughout Canada.

Can you imagine, sir, any other commercial venture in Canada receiving such a "birthright" for a "mess of pottage" to an American firm, as is the case in this particular deal? I think not! America has sold the U.S.A. all over the world by means of her propaganda on the screen and is continuing to do so day after day. By means of this publicity she is building up an export trade which is absorbing huge numbers of hitherto British and Canadian customers, consequently detrimental to a degree to us as a nation. In the matter of securing trade the United States overlooks no factor, however small, and she is now endeavoring, through the medium of the Paramount Lasker Company, to acquire one of Canada's most vital assets, its literary power, combined with synchronized speech, is such that it can control the emotions of the public and in many cases stimulate force enough to even make known far governments.

Every nation in the world is demanding self-expression on its own screen, and in order to retain its independence and individuality, it is, therefore, most essential that Canada should hold in her own hands the means of expression, and not rapidly increasing millions, rather than hand this over to a foreign power, however friendly she may be.

Famous Players-Lasker Corporation at the present time is in a healthy and profit-making state, but if this corporation, which has been fostered and financed by Canadian enterprise, is allowed to pass into American hands, it will have tendency to destroy the confidence of Canadian investors in Canadian ventures. I, personally, think that this sudden rush on the part of the American film industry is a move to seize the Canadian market in its entirety and to become well entrenched before the coming of the Imperial and Economic Conferences can line up government interest and action to preclude foreign monopolies.

I sincerely trust that these few words of mine will meet the eyes of the "powers that be" and arouse sufficient interest to delve deeper into the subject which is so intensely vital to our beloved Dominion. If we are Canadians, let us really have and hold "Canada for Canadians."

DOUGLAS FLINTOFF.

MATERIAL DISCREPANCY IS DISCLOSED

Allegation in Relief Inquiry at Vancouver of Grub Staking Prospectors at Daisy Lake

CHARGE AFFECTS TWO OFFICIALS

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Mr. George Pyke, clerk in charge of booking men and issuing car tickets to married men at the city relief department, testified today at the probe into the affairs of that department, that during the last four months he had issued 3,764 car tickets to sick and emergency cases not on regular relief work. It was testified previously that in the account for single men, kept by Clerk Investigator Clifton Maxwell, there was a discrepancy of 13,788 car tickets. Mr. Pyke said he could offer no explanation why Mr. Maxwell's shortage was so large.

Other testimony brought out the allegation that two "prospectors" had been staked and sent to Daisy Lake, on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, where Relief Officer Rev. George Ireland and Maxwell allegedly owned property. This evidence was brought out by Accountant Archibald Hutchins, of the relief office. He claimed that between September and April groceries valued at $160 were sent to Mr. Ole Olsen at Crescent Beach. Accounts for the groceries supplied to these men were kept separate on orders from Ireland, Mr. Hutchins stated.

DR. F. NANSEN DIES AT OSLO

Death Terminates Career of World Famous Explorer, Humanitarian, Diplomat and Author

DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN

(Associated Press) OSLO, Norway, May 13.—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous explorer and humanitarian, died here today. Dr. Nansen was sixty-eight. He was widely known as an Arctic explorer, sociologist, diplomat, humanitarian and author. He recently started new plans to make a dash to the North Pole next year in the dirigible Graf Zeppelin.

Dr. Nansen had been planning to make his North Pole trip this year but because of the unfavorable economic situation and the impossibility of concluding insurance arrangements for 1930, the project was cancelled with every expectation of making it in 1931.

The famous explorer, who made several trips to the Arctic, the most noted being the Fram Expedition in 1893, also gave much of his life to relief work after the World War, being particularly interested in efforts to establish an Armenian national homeland.

EDITOR SPEAKS ON NEWSPAPERS

Mr. B. C. Nicholas, Victoria, Stresses Importance of Quality Circulation in Developing Advertising

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Quality circulation was rated as an important factor in developing a newspaper's advertising, by Mr. B. C. Nicholas, managing editor of The Victoria Times, in an address before members of the advertising and sales bureau of the Board of Trade in the Hotel Vancouver.

Mr. Nicholas spoke on "Advertising and Its Relation to the Newspaper From the Viewpoint of an Editor." Quantity circulation was not the only factor to be considered by an advertiser in regard to a newspaper, he pointed out. He added numerous instances where metropolitan newspapers with large circulations were carrying considerably less advertising than newspapers with smaller circulations. The reason, he explained, was because the latter had quality circulation, subscribers with the means to pay what the advertiser had to sell.

Mr. Nicholas stated that the ad-

CITY TO HAVE 83 PRECINCTS

Five Wards of Victoria Will Be Subdivided for Federal Polling Into Small Areas

RETURN TO POLICY OF 1917 ELECTION

Under the new Elections Act, which will be called into effect at the forthcoming Dominion election, there will be a decentralization of the polling, so that some eighty-three polling places will be selected for the recording of the votes of the electorate. Mr. H. E. A. Courtney, the returning officer, is engaged in the division of the city into these eighty-three precincts, preparatory for polling day. This will mean that there will be not more than about 300 electors voting at any one place, instead of having the wards gather at one voting point.

"Under the new system which is to be put into effect here by the Dominion Government, enumerators will be sent out from this office to cover thoroughly each district, hunt out every human being in each house, building or other structure on each city block and list the names and addresses of all British subjects of both sexes of twenty-one years or over," said Mr. Courtney. "We plan to miss no one and make it as thorough as a census. This enumerating work will take one week, and a corps of officials large enough to complete the work in that time will be sent out."

"The name, occupation and address of each person so listed will be turned into this office, and by alphabetical arrangement the list for each polling subdivision will be compiled."

"To provide for any that might be missed in spite of the system of fine-tooth combing of the districts for all voters, there will be three days allowed for any person to appear before the registrar and register himself. After that, the lists will go to the district court judge for final revision."

"Under this new system of registration, the registrar, through his

NANAIMO BOARD INVITES MAYOR OF WINNIPEG

Gabriola Island Ferry Is Subject of Letter From Deputy Minister

LONG BEACH AS SPEED COURSE

NANAIMO, May 13.—At the monthly meeting of the local Board of Trade this evening, the remaining officers for the current term were appointed, the following being the chairmen of each: Agriculture and dairying, Harry Wilkinson; civic, legislative and public utilities, P. S. Cunliffe; coal industry, W. W. Mitchell; finance and membership, W. Rummeling; harbor and fisheries, J. M. Ruddy; industries, R. H. Ormond; railway and transportation, W. W. Mitchell; trade and commerce, J. F. Doyle; and tourist and public relations, J. G. Dakin. A letter received from Mayor Webb of Winnipeg, stating he had received a letter from the board, asking if Nanaimo was a member of a Board of Trade meeting when he visited Nanaimo in the near future, and said he would do so. Mr. Cowman stated Mayor Webb was a board of trade member, and it would be of interest to the members to hear from him. On motion, the matter was left in the hands of the president to make the necessary arrangements.

A reply was received from Victoria, dated May 3, from Mr. P. Phillips, chief engineer of the Department of Public Works, regarding the proposed Gabriola Island ferry. Nothing definite has been reached yet, but promises look good for a ferry to Gabriola Island in the near future. The letter was received and filed.

Mr. Cowman stated that from information gathered, Mr. Kaye Don proposed to come to this continent again for speed tests, and he thought it would be a good idea to make a direct investigation of Long Beach and if it was to be found a satisfactory condition they should again get in touch with Mr. Don to see if it was at all possible to have him use Long Beach for the tests. The motion was put and carried.

CONSERVATIVES READY FOR FIGHT

Premier Says Dunning Budget Is Reversal of Policy of Liberals

In speaking before the Saanich Conservative executive last evening, Premier Tolmie made reference to the situation in the Dominion, pointing out the announcement of Mr. W. O. Wallace, president of the association, that the body was ready to launch the Federal campaign as soon as the election was called. The Premier said the budget, which had been brought down by Hon. Charles Dunning, was one which was, as far as the idea of protection was concerned, different entirely from the policy which had been announced by the Liberal party in the past. It was the adoption in this respect of the Conservative policy.

The budget showed a disposition on the part of the Liberals of awakening to the situation which presented itself in the Dominion, whereby they would follow the example of the United States, and look out for the interests of the Canadian people. This did not mean retaliation against the United States, the Premier said, but a policy on the part of the Conservatives of defending the Canadian producers. The "nuclei" speech of Premier King, in which he had not only announced that he would not contribute a five cent piece to unemployment funds in any province where a Conservative Government was in power, but had repeated the statement later, had caused a great deal of unfavorable comment. It was an unprecedented thing, the Premier said, for a Minister of the Government to announce that the political faith of a person should be inquired into before aid in the earning a living should be given.

Freehold No. 2 Strikes Large Increase of Gas

CALGARY, Alta., May 13.—Freehold No. 2, east of the Home well, struck a large increase of gas late this afternoon, and the well was throwing fragmented limestone while operators were debating whether the well should be deepened. It was highly probable that the tools would be run again Wednesday, if the gas pressure could be controlled. The last burst of gas came from a point 267 feet in the limestone, as the bit touched what was thought to be the top of porous stratum. The tools were successfully withdrawn and the official estimate of the production possibilities of the well at the present is 100 to 150 barrels.

FLYING OFFICER DISDAINS TITLE

Alaska—Washington Airways Pilot Ranks as Temporary Flight Commander

VANCOUVER, May 13.—An officer without a title is Mr. Robin "Pat" Renahan, veteran world war aviator, and new addition to the ranks of pilots employed by the Alaska-Washington Airways flying passenger planes over Puget Sound and Alaska.

Renahan joined the Irish infantry at the outbreak of the world war as an observer. As the war grew on and the need for pilots became greater, he was assigned to a pilot suit pilot, seeing service on both the Italian and French fronts as a patrol pilot. Later Renahan was sent back to England and put on submarine patrol duty over the North Sea. During that time he was detailed to hover over the North Sea on the lookout for submarines. At the close of the war he had been promoted to the rank of temporary flight commander.

"I would never use a title," Renahan declares. "The war with all its horrors is over long ago and should be forgotten. As far as being called a commander, that's out with the war."

Renahan stayed in the air service until 1921, when he took up duties as a fish and forestry patrol pilot for the Canadian Government. He still makes his home at Vancouver. Renahan is now assigned to relief duty on the Alaska-Washington Airways lines, as he holds pilot's licences for both Canada and the United States. He has approximately 2,500 hours' flying experience.

BEEF GRADING EXPERT HERE FOR MEETING

Mr. J. W. Cahill Will Give Demonstration at Chamber of Commerce
Today

HOUSEWIVES ARE INVITED

Mr. J. W. Cahill, district supervisor of beef grading for Alberta and British Columbia, who makes his headquarters in Calgary, has arrived in the city for the free demonstration which he is to conduct in the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon at 3 o'clock. He was a visitor at the Parliament Buildings yesterday afternoon, where he paid a compliment to Mr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, and the officials of the department.

partment for the hearty co-operation which they had given him in connection with his work.

"There is nothing that goes into the house about which people know less than about the meat used," said Mr. Cahill, when interviewed. "There is nothing that they should know more about than the meat used," he added.

APPRECIATES HELP
Mr. Cahill expressed his appreciation of the help which the Provincial Department of Agriculture was rendering him in this demonstration series of meetings arranged for the province. These will be the first of their kind held in the province.

By means of a carcass of beef shipped from the abattoir at Calgary direct to Victoria, and which Mr. Cahill has followed from the time when the animal was slaughtered until it was graded and made ready for shipment here, he will explain the advantages of the grading system of meats. Of the meats used in this province he says that the P. Burns & Company, Swift Canadian Company, and the Pacific Meat Company have all their meats passed upon in the abattoir and are properly inspected, and the beef sides are marked with a red line through its entire length as choice, while the next grade is lined with blue, indicating good. Only when the meat has been duly and officially graded can these marks be placed on them, so that the public is protected by their presence.

Mr. Cahill says that the women take a great deal of interest in the demonstrations, and are very ready to avail themselves of the opportunity of getting the information given.

WILL YOU TRY this MODERN WAY... ONCE?

SURELY you have often wished for something softer, more comfortable and dependable... something without stiff edges. Then try Modess—just one box. Compare it. Examine the unique, patented features responsible for its gracious, yielding softness.

We should not so confidently suggest that you give Modess this test, if we did not know the satisfaction it has brought to thousands of women. Our corps of trained nurses have interviewed women throughout the country. Practically without exception those who have tried Modess tell our nurses it is the softest and safest they have ever used.

The secret of Modess superiority is an entirely new substance employed for the absorbent, disposable filler. It is not in stiff layers, but is a downy, fluffy mass like the finest cotton. Its absorbency is so great that Modess has a higher degree of dependability than you have known. The edges of the filler are rounded and shaped to conform.

Millions of women have accepted Modess because of its convincing superiority. Can you continue to be satisfied with the old-fashioned kind—especially since Modess cost no more?

MEMBERS NEEDED FOR RED CROSS

Capt. Corry Wood Tells of Peace-Time Programme and Work Being Done by Society

Captain and Mrs. Corry Wood entertained yesterday afternoon at their beautiful home on Rock Street, Lake Hill, at a silver tea given in aid of the funds of the Provincial Red Cross Society, which is making a special drive for members and funds to carry on its peace-time programme. Tea was served in the garden, which was a most delightful setting amid the oaks and flowers. Mrs. Corry Wood was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Barton, and by Lady Laker, who poured tea. In a brief, informal talk, Captain Wood, Provincial Commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, outlined the peace programme, which includes the work of the Junior Red Cross Society, the establishing of outpost hospitals in the province, and the care of returned disabled veterans.

The Junior Red Cross Society had a membership of 3,500 children, the speaker told the visitors, and was the largest international organization in the world. Its object was to encourage healthy living, and the school children had raised enough money to maintain three children in the Queen Alexandra Soldiers' and one child in the Children's Hospital in Edmonton. The movement was started in Quebec during the war, and Saskatchewan followed suit, until there are now between thirty and forty thousand children in that province who have become members. The work of the Junior Red Cross had so impressed the school boards, he continued, that 730 districts in Saskatchewan had contributed $10 each towards the management and furthering of the work. The returned soldiers also came under the care of the Canadian Red Cross Society, he went on, and extra money was provided for returned men who were patients in hospitals, sanitariums and mental homes. For the past nine years Alberta has maintained an outpost hospital at Pouce Coupe, Peace River District, Captain Wood said, and as this hospital was really in the province of British Columbia, it was now felt that this province should take some steps to carry on the work. The Red Cross Society was, therefore, endeavoring to supply the needs of the hospital and was also interesting itself in assisting with the establishing of another hospital further north, where medical and nursing care is badly needed, and where Miss Roberts, an English nurse, is doing excellent and very valuable work. The Provincial Government had supplied the necessary drugs and equipment.

An objective of $20,000 was being aimed at, the speaker concluded, which sum could soon be realized if 20,000 members paying the annual fee of $1, could be secured. Among those present were: General Sir Percy and Lady Lake, Sir Richard and Lady Lake, Mrs. S. F. Toimle, Mrs. Harold Fleming, Mrs. J. H. Chisholm, Colonel and Mrs. Gale, the Misses Gale, Mrs. George Phillips, Miss Urquhart, Mrs. Sydney A. Pelly, Miss Kelly, Mrs. W. H. Bullock-Webster, Rev. S. Ryall and Mrs. Ryall, Miss White, Miss Sear, Mrs. Cyrus Peck and Mrs. Harold Bate.

WEDDINGS
SPENCE-KNIGHT
A pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening at 212 Wilson Street, when Miss Matilda, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knight, became the bride of Mr. Sylvester Spence, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spence, Banca P.O. Kootenay Lake. Assistant Fred Merritt, of the Salvation Army Citadel, officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a smart gown of shell pink crepe back satin with lace trimming, and a net veil held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried Ophelia roses, sweet peas and narcissi. Miss Ivy Knight was bridesmaid in a frock of Nile green tulle and with a wreath of gold leaves in her hair. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas and narcissi. Mr. W. H. Knight was best man. A reception was held at the bride's home, Mrs. J. W. Knight, the bride's mother, assisting in receiving. Among the gifts was a silver basket from the bride's father, employees of F. W. Woolworth Company, and a handsome carving set and silver fork from the songster brigade of the Salvation Army Citadel. The honeymoon in Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Spence will reside at Banca, Kootenay Lake.

Plans for the annual garden fête at Government House on Saturday, June 14, were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Local Association of the Girl Guides, held at the headquarters, Langley Street, on Monday afternoon. The match play will be a feature of this, taking place at three o'clock, and is to be followed by Guide displays and a Brownie display at 4:45 o'clock.

The association received Miss Leighton's temporary resignation from active Guide work, this being received with great regret. The business of the afternoon included the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, followed by reports from the east and west districts. Miss Spiers, Y.W.C.A. area secretary, England, had visited several companies and packs during the month and gave interesting talks, which were greatly appreciated. A lieutenant's warrant was asked for Miss May Phillips. In the Spring flower show the Lady Douglas Company's exhibit, it was reported, had won first prize, and the Eighth Company, Tillicum, was third. The different packs and companies had reported several new recruits, and all were working hard for the garden fête.

Mrs. Guthrie read a report of the recent badge examinations. Out of 153 entrants there were 113 passes, twenty-three failures and sixteen unable to attend. There were still three to be taken to the garden fête.

The meeting expressed its congratulations to Miss Aline Stewart Williams on the success which her dancing group had had in the folk dancing events at the Musical Festival.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 13.—The lone representative of womanhood in the House of Commons provoked the cheers of her male colleagues tonight when she announced she had not changed her name since coming to Parliament, but was willing to do so.

The member took Miss Agnes MacPhail up wrongly. She did not mean she was contemplating marriage. She was talking of the tariff and declared she had been elected as a United Farmer, and had not changed her name to "Progressive" of the others had done. But she was willing to change her position on the tariff if circumstances justified it. As she spoke, however, it sounded something like: "I was elected a United Farmer, and I have not changed my name." (Loud cheers.)

"But I am willing." (Still more cheers.)

Miss MacPhail then explained she was referring to her political affiliations.

Beach Mode Is Printed

One of the most modern beach costumes is the wrap-around skirt that is slipped over the woolen swimming suit while resting on the sands. This skirt is open at one side for sun tanning, and is made of black satin, showing naive drawings in white or color.

Another interpretation of the beach skirt that is destined for popularity with the advent of Summer is made of a Paisley patterned chaise and is sufficiently wide that it may be worn as a cape over the worsted bathing suit if desired.

Many of the more exclusive beach pyjamas with long flaring trousers completed by matching jackets, are fashioned from heavy rugged sports silks and designs representing various games.

That the beach sandal has taken on color and is rather intricately modeled from narrow straps is illustrated in the white pair worn by one of the young women pictured. The pair accompanying the beach skirt is distinctly of Chinese character in coloring and design.

Very Itchy Pimples on Face For Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"For years I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. The pimples were hard, large and red and affected my face. Some of them festered and caused eruptions, and at times were very itchy. I tried all kinds of remedies without success. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it purchased more. In about a month I could see that it was helping me, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." ## Another polite snub—now she knows the reason..."B. O."

SHE WAS a newcomer in the neighborhood—eager to make friends. But in spite of her cordial pleasant ways, she couldn't! A few polite calls at first—a few polite invitations. Then—dropped! She was distressed—bewildered. It wasn't the first time this had happened. What could be the reason? Then one day she found out, "B.O."—body odour. Now she has many invitations—scores of friends. She knows the easy way to keep perspiration odourless.

Who can say "not guilty?" If we always knew when we were guilty of "B.O.", of course we'd correct it at once. But it's so easy to offend and never suspect it. Everyone perspires. Pores give off a quart of odour-causing waste even on cool days, doctors say. Accustomed to this ever-present odour, we don't notice it in ourselves. But others do! Don't risk offending. Play safe—wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. Its gentle, searching, antiseptic lather purifies pores—destroys every trace of body odour—leaves you feeling gloriously fresh and clean. Lee Kum Mon Gets Five-Year Term and Also Fined $500 for Selling Morphine

VANCOUVER, May 13. — Heavy penalties were inflicted by Police Magistrate H. C. Shaw in the case of Lee Kum Mon, alias Lee Kam Man, and Lee Kee Suey, who pleaded guilty to charges of selling morphine. Lee Kum Mon, who faced two charges, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary with a fine of $500, while Lee Kee Suey, charged with one offence, was sentenced to two years and fined $200.

In view of the severe sentences the courts are now imposing and the attitude of the Court of Appeal toward narcotic traffickers, I feel I must impose a severe penalty on these men," Magistrate Shaw said.

Big Mill May Be Established in Coquitlam

MAILLARDVILLE, May 13.—At a meeting of the Coquitlam Municipal Council, Reeve R. C. Macdonald reported that there was now every likelihood of a pulp and paper mill being established in the municipality by Mr. James Rear, of Palo Alto, Cal. From information he had received, the matter was practically settled, the Reeve said. Councillor T. Allard reported that the big company which Mr. Rear represents had caused an analysis of the water to be made in the vicinity of the proposed site, which is on the Fraser River, near Fraser Mills.

The company has acquired a number of options on timber tracts in this province, it is understood. Book Agent (to farmer): "You ought to buy an encyclopedia, now that your boy is going to school." Farmer: "Not on your life. Let him walk, the same as I did."

At The Playhouses

ROYAL This is the last week of the season of the Gordon McLeod Players at the Royal. "She Got What She Wanted," the comedy which is being presented as their last offering, is quite a remarkable play, and one of the cleverest this company have offered to their patrons. Lilian Christie is seen in quite a different part from anything she has portrayed before. Gordon McLeod also plays with wonderful skill the simple-hearted lover. Roland Gillett as an American of the broadest kind. James McGrath brings all his ripe experience to bear on the part of Dave. "She Got What She Wanted" is a really wonderful blending of comedy, pathos and strong situations. The setting of the play is unique, and great care has been taken to get true atmosphere. The cast is the strongest combination of the players that have been altogether in one play.

CAPITOL John Gilbert is very careful of his property. Throughout "Redemption" his new starring picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, now at the Capitol Theatre, last times today, he never once forgot to wear a wedding ring, the same one placed upon his finger during the Russian double-ring marriage ceremony in an early scene of the picture. And when it came time for him to appear as Tolstoy's miserable Petya, seeking relief in Moscow's vodka shops, Gilbert looked at his fur collar and thought it looked too good for a down-and-out. It did not look as if it had been slept in. "Get a can of black paint and a brush and we'll make this look the part," Gilbert directed the prop boy, and for the next few minutes, the prop boy wearing the coat, Gilbert was to be seen daubing paint on it. "Just putting on the wear and tear," he commented.

COLISEUM "The Devil's Maze," showing at the Coliseum Theatre last times today is an intriguing story of a master of a local hunt, who together with his wife's best friend is lost in the fog while hunting. The couple spend the night at a cottage and the resulting scandal has far-reaching effects on the lives of all in their immediate circle.

DOMINION New York's historic Theatre Eden Musee, founded many years ago on old Fourteenth Street, and moved to Coney Island where it was razed by fire, may be seen in reconstructed form in "Anna Christie," Greta Garbo's first talking picture, which is now at the Dominion Theatre all this week. It was in this famous wax works that the "Chamber of Horrors" first came into being with its shocking display of torture and murder victims, depicted with lifelike realism. When it was moved to Coney Island it preserved many of its images, such as Dorothy Arnold, Nan Patterson, Elsie Siegel and other figures in sensational mysteries.

PLAYHOUSE Barbara Stanwick, star of "Mexicali Rose," the Columbia all-talking drama of love and revenge, playing at the Playhouse Theatre today, has discovered a method of avoiding a shiny nose. Here it is—something we've all been waiting for. "The continuous application of the powder puff," says Miss Stanwick, "only stimulates the oil glands. A better method is not to cold-cream the nose that is shiny, but to use an astringent as a powder base. I recommend eau de cologne. If you follow this procedure you will be able to keep your nose free from redness and shine regardless of the weather."

COLUMBIA Five hundred courtiers, ladies and attendants, one hundred soldiers and fifty dancing girls were employed in staging the beautiful castle scene for Samuel Goldwyn's "The Night of Love," which is now showing at the Columbia for the last time today.

Cruze Heads As Producer Of Good Films

James Cruze has produced more successful photoplays of the so-called silent variety than any director in Hollywood. In a recent survey of screen directorial headliners, James Cruze led the field, with many points to spare. And, to judge from his first talking picture, "The Great Gatsby," which comes to the Playhouse Theatre next week, it appears that James Cruze will triumph again.

WALLACE Havelock Robb, poet and naturalist, has founded a sanctuary about five miles from Kingston, Ont. To this he has given the beautiful name of Abbey Dawn, and there he writes his poetry and studies the birds and animals he loves. In No. 1 he is seen with three friendly chickadees. One is perched on his shoulder, another on his gloved hand and a third on his binoculars. All three are working up courage to hop up to get a peanut Mr. Robb is holding between his lips. No. 2 shows a great horned owl at Abbey Dawn, which just missed a strike and looks ruffled and disgruntled. In No. 3 a fish hawk, or osprey, is "bringing home the bacon," although in this case the breakfast consists of a fish which has just "been given a ride" in the Chicago meaning of the phrase, and which is seen in the father bird's talons. No. 4 is a new portrait of Mr. Robb. The photographs reproduced here copyright by Mr. Robb, who took the two unusual bird pictures himself.

"The Great Gatsby," as one reviewer describes it, is a screen symphony of life, movement and melody. It is also Eric von Stroheim's first appearance in a talking picture. Betty Compson, always a favorite in this city, is the heroine lead in this remarkable picture.

HE WONDERED WHY
"Well, Johnnie, and how did you like the Zoo?"
"Splendid, mother," was the reply, "but I didn't see all the animals. When he came to that place where it said 'White Horse' and 'Red Seal' father went in by himself."

The Province of Ontario will spend $2,428,000 on new public buildings.

The Story Behind the Opera

By J. J. GELLER

"LA BOHEME" The Latin Quarter in Paris, in the eyes of the world, indicates that section of the French capital inhabited by young, carefree spirits, merrily given over to the pursuit of the muses. The popular conception seems to be that they lead a frolicsome, unconventional life, where all is gay and happy, and that these embryo painters, poets and musicians excel in love, song and wine.

The first man to explode this theory was Henri Murger. A Frenchman, he was the son of a tailor, who selected the profession of law for young Murger, but instead he chose literature, and became a member of the famous Montmartre district. For a beginner this was tantamount to salvation. His poetry failed to yield him enough sustenance and he tried his hand at journalism, with no better luck. In the midst of his struggles he made the acquaintance of other artists placed in similar circumstances and observed them closely. To all outward appearances they seemed a happy, convivial lot, full of the joyous zest for life, but Murger was able to penetrate beneath the surface and discover that their lives were fraught with fear, disappointment and terror.

When journalism failed him, Murger turned to the characters who came under his observation, and made a series of moving sketches capturing the moods, struggles, humor and pathos of the poverty-stricken artists of the Bohemian colony in Paris. Like a true Bohemian, he wrote his impressions from the shelter of a garret, and they likewise reflected his own struggles. The whole was drawn with an amazing fidelity.

These stories were published in 1848 and Murger avowed to find his book acclaimed as the soundest penetration of the artistic temperament. He had questioned the popular fiction that a person be considered worthless simply because he desires to follow art. His tales aroused a sense of pity among readers for the impoverished poets and artists. The year after their publication Murger collaborated with a playwright and his stories were dramatized successfully for the French stages. It is maintained that Murger in the book found his counterpart in his creator.

Some forty-five years after the first appearance of the novel, Giacomo Puccini, the famous Italian composer, became intensely absorbed in the hopes, lives and achievements of the characters peopling Murger's tales, and a light to transpire them to the realm of grand opera. Puccini came by his gift for music through a long line of musicians in his family. He began his studies at an early age and displayed genuine talent, which came to the ears of the Queen of Italy, who granted him a pension. This enabled him to study under the guidance of Ponchielli, the composer of "La Gioconda."

When Puccini decided to compose "La Boheme" he had already four operas to his credit. With the assistance of two Italian writers who used four scenes from Murger's "Bohemian Sketches" for their libretto, Puccini composed the score. He was able to invest his music with notes of genuine passion and caught the same sympathetic spirit for the habitants of the Latin Quarter that Murger conveyed.

"La Boheme" was produced in Turin, Italy, on February 1, 1896. By slow degrees "La Boheme" became known and now takes its rank among all the great operas. "Bohemia," said Murger, "is the preface to the academy, hospital or morgue." He died in the hospital. (Copyright, 1929, New York Tribune Inc.)

NOTABLE ITALIANS HEAR MUSICIANS

New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra Is Welcomed at Rome

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

ROME, Italy, May 13.—Adding another triumph to those already registered, Arturo Toscanini and the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra played before a large and appreciative public in Augusteo Theatre here last night, rendering a difficult and rather excessively mixed programme in perfect style. Great Toscanini, who is remembered in Italy as much for his temperament as for his musical genius, included in the programme two modern Italian compositions, "The Carnival of Venice," by Vincenzo Tommasini, and "The Roman Festivals," by Ottorino Respighi, both of which numbers, with their unusual effects, seemed to confuse the Roman music lovers.

When the maestro appeared with the composers of the two pieces, however, the audience came out of its lethargy and responded with loud applause. Among those present in the audience to greet the former chief of La Scala Opera House of Milan on his return to the Italian capital were the Queen of Italy, the three princesses, Mafalda, Giovanna and Maria, and the entire diplomatic corps as well as leaders of Roman society.

After the concert American Ambassador John W. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett gave a brilliant reception to the conductor and his musicians at the Embassy, to which several hundred guests were invited. Following tonight's concert, the orchestra will go to Florence for its final concert in Italy.

RUMANIAN PRINCE DEFENDS BROTHER

Legend Nicholas Protects Exiled Prince Carol From Attacks of Bratiano Supporters

By A. R. DECKER

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

VIENNA, May 13.—Prince Nicholas of Rumania has come out in defence of his exiled brother, Crown Prince Carol.

For years the sons of the Rumanian royal family have been political footballs punted back and forth between the parties. King Ferdinand's death in 1927 left the politicians in full swing and free to juggle the dynasty. Prince Carol then threatened to make difficult the rule of the invisible dynasty headed by Jon Bratiano, but the political leader found a pretext in Carol's extravagance and love affairs, with the result that the Crown Prince was banished, though his exile was made endurable through a liberal allowance.

LIBERAL ATTACKS

The Bratianos—Jon and Vintila, his brother—brought about a financial collapse and, with the result of power by Julius Maniu's peasant Government. The Bratianos thought that they could regain power when restored finances made their return to office desirable. However, the strong leader, Jon Bratiano, followed King Ferdinand to the grave.

Vintila Bratiano took his brother's place, but lost prestige and power and could not bring the Liberal party back to the government.

Recently Bratiano and his Liberals changed their attitude and courted favor with Carol, the man they had exiled, hoping to bring him back as king and also regain government control. Carol refused. Meantime the attacks of the Liberals against Premier Maniu have been bitter, while Prince Nicholas also has been assailed.

DENIES REVENGE

Now Prince Nicholas has taken a stand for his exiled brother and has protested against a circular issued by the Liberal party against Carol. Nicholas is supposed to have declared to Vintila Bratiano that he could not continue as agent if the Liberals persisted in their attacks against Carol, "who is father of young King Michael, and my brother."

Premier Maniu ordered the seizure of the Liberal party circulars and censored accounts of the incident from Liberal newspapers.

Prince Carol is reported to have stated from his exile, "I desire to return to Rumania, but I will never be party to a division among the Rumanian people. I will not permit myself to be used by a party for selfish party purposes. I do not nourish a hope or a hope for revenge. Greater Rumania can exist only through a union of all."

"Repeat the words the defendant used," said the counsel for the plaintiff in a case of slander.

"I'd rather not," said the witness timidly, "they were hardly words to tell to a gentleman."

"I see," said counsel; "then whisper them to the judge."

Kiwanians Told of Opportunities

Premier Tolmie Advises Young Men to Take Off Their Coats and Win Success in Province

Appealing to the young men of British Columbia to take off their coats and become successful in the development of the province's vast natural resources, Premier Tolmie told members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday that no better opportunities for a young man's advancement existed anywhere.

The possession of a university degree is of no use to a man who sits down and waits for something to turn up, Premier Tolmie stated, and expressed regret that he would not be alive fifty years hence and see the marvelous growth that would be accomplished in the meantime.

On his recent trip East, the Premier had encountered many men identified with business and industry.

trial interests who had unbounded confidence in the future of British Columbia. His latest visit contrasted with the first trip he had made to the East in 1889, when the Western provinces were looked upon as a market for surplus manufactures and products, and little else.

Speaking of the 22,000 miles of roads in British Columbia, the Premier said it needed 465 additional miles of highway before the northern boundary of the province was reached. The tourist business was of the utmost importance to the country, amounting to $73,000,000 in 1929, all of which had been expended to the advantage of the people of British Columbia.

There were 120,000,000 people living to the south of Canada. It would cost a lot of money to advertise the scenic assets of the country among them; but the tourist business had been a dominant factor in focusing attention on a road from the boundary to the Yukon and Alaska.

"Why spend money on Americans? Is a question asked frequently," said the Premier. "Canada spends a billion dollars with Americans. Should we not endeavor to get some of it back? Nothing will develop the northern sections of the province more surely than the construction of this road. By Fall we shall know more about it, and we are not going to rush into anything without considering every phase most carefully. The tour to Hazelton being arranged for a party of United States journalists by the Government will be productive of invaluable publicity."

TAKING HIM AT HIS WORD

A salesman called on a negro farmer, and after much explanation and persuasion, booked an order for a tractor. In due course it was delivered, and shortly afterwards the salesman called again, expecting payment.

"Well, Sam," he said, "when are you going to pay me for the tractor?"

"Pay yo' fo' de tractuh?" asked Sam, in astonishment. "Why, man, yo' done to' me dat in three weeks de tractuh would pay fo' itself."

Max Schmeling Must Sign Two Contracts To Get Sharkey Mix

Commission to Demand That Teuton Defend Heavyweight Championship in New York if He Whips Boston Gob, Trumbull Says

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

The New York Boxing Commission has determined that Max Schmeling has had his own way of fighting enough. You may remember that when the commission insisted Schmeling live up to his contract to fight Scott, Max left for Europe, and the last the commission saw of him was a letter in which he said he was fighting Scott. Schmeling was interpreted as a highly desirous.

Because of the milk fund, the commission finally agreed to overlook past performance and permit Max to box Jack Sharkey for the championship of the world. This is a big chance for a young man who, in 1928, was knocked out in one round by Gypsy Daniel.

Schmeling was brought over here by his German manager, Arthur Bulow. He ran out on him. William F. Carey practically had Max matched to box Sharkey in Detroit. He ran out on Mr. Carey, although Joe Jacobs shouldered the blame. The commission told him he must fight Scott. Schmeling proved the commission was wrong about that by running out again.

DUKES DETERMINED
This time the commission is determined that Max will stick to it, states emphatically that, to obtain a license, he must sign a contract to box Sharkey for the milk fund, and sign a second contract to the effect that, if he wins, he will box his next bout in Madison Square Garden in New York.

The commission feels that Schmeling is a man who is not a fighter, but a showman. The Sharkey bout alone should make him more money than he ever saw. The opportunity it gives him may make him a large fortune. Schmeling admits all this. His point is that his contract with Bulow does not run out until October, and that his German manager might claim an interest in any future bout contracted for at the present time, even if engaged in after the expiration of the contract. The German answers that it will assume any such risk and will post a bond for $100,000 to protect Schmeling against any possible financial loss. If Max refuses to sign these contracts he will get no license. If he gets no license, someone else will be put in against Sharkey, and Schmeling may as well make a fortune for himself as for anyone else before he gets another chance to fight for the title and, what is more im-

LAWN TENNIS BY WILLARD CROCKER
Choose your next shot at the earliest possible moment and play it as chosen. For example: Your opponent returns the ball. Decide before the ball has crossed the net on your shot (straight, side or crosscourt) no matter whether it comes on your forehand or backhand. Gradually get so that you decide two shots ahead. For example, decide to give him one straight shot in a row, or a crosscourt and a side line. Start this routine and you will develop the habit of thinking two or three shots ahead of the play, only halting when something unexpected occurs. After you have met that situation, return immediately to your routine. Try not to wait till the last minute before you determine what to do, since that causes indecision, which is generally fatal.

The next major consideration is the court area into which you hit the ball. Learn these areas thoroughly and use them as targets. His court should be determined.

Area No. 1—Your opponent's forehand corner. Area No. 2—Opponent's backhand corner. Area No. 3—Centre of baseline. Area No. 4 and 5—Side line for shortballs. Centre area is dead ground. For example—decide to play deep crosscourt forehand drive—aim area No. 1, or decide straight side line backhand—aim area No. 1 and so on. Area No. 2 (centre baseline) is used for the "centre theory" in which you do not wish to give your opponent an angle shot. As far as possible keep your ball out of the dead area in the centre. Areas No. 4 and 5 are for acute angles and short side line shots to draw opponent out of position.

UNASSISTED TRIPLE PLAY CARRIED OUT

THISTLES RALLY TO CAPTURE TILT

Scoring seven runs in the seventh inning through a barrage of hits, coupled with the odd bounce, Saanich Thistles scored a fine 10-8 victory over the Hillcrest nine in an "A" section fixture of the Victoria and District Softball League last night at the Central Park.

The suburbanites made their win more impressive by playing throughout the game with two outfielders. Outstanding features marked the battle, one a triple play, unassisted, by Bill Passmore, shortstop for the loozers, and the other was the heavy hitting of Ivan Sweeney, a team-mate.

Passmore's unassisted triple killing occurred in the third inning. Bill Putman, first man at bat for the Thistles, singled. Eddie Viggers followed with another single, putting Putman on second. Dave Essler, third man at the plate, smacked the first ball pitched towards short for what looked like a sure two-bagger. Like a flash Passmore came from nowhere, appeared the ball, touched second to put Putman out, and then completed the unusual play by tagging Viggers as he slid into second base.

Sweeney delighted the fans with his heavy slugging. During his five trips to the plate he smashed out a homer, a triple and a two-bagger. Butler and Putman, the opposing pitchers, twirled good ball but received wobbly support at times. Ernie Stock and Barney Barnwell, umpired.

At Victoria West Park, Pimley & Ritchie defeated The Vancouver Province, 13-4. Sampson umpired.

Vancouver Woman Tops Field With 87; Three Locals Qualify

Mrs. F. Wilding, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Hutchings Make Select Group in Championship Meet—Defending Champ Runner-Up

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Uncovering the brand of golf which has won her title after title in the Pacific Northwest, Mrs. F. Wilding, of the Jericho Club, captured the medal in the qualifying round of the British Columbia women's golf championships today.

Her brilliant card of 87 topped the record list of over seventy links and women who poured the sporty P.O. Grey course under ideal golfing conditions. Mrs. B. C. Sweeney, also of Jericho, was runner-up, only one stroke behind the medalist.

Scores of 95 qualified thirteen of the title aspirants and seven competitors were called upon by the officials to play off for the three remaining positions in the championship flight. These were Mrs. D. R. McLean, Miss H. Forgan, Miss D. Schwenger, Mrs. Bert Carter, Mrs. A. S. Matthews, Mrs. W. G. MacKenzie and Mrs. A. McAllister, the latter champion of Shaughnessy women players. The first three named won their way into the championship flight, Miss Forgan and Miss Schwenger qualifying on the first hole of the play-off. Mrs. MacKenzie had two putts from twelve feet from the cup to win the remaining berth, but failed and went back to the tee with Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Carter. With Mrs. MacKenzie and Mrs. Carter down in five, Mrs. McLean sank a five-footer for a four and a win.

Match play in the championship and other flights opens tomorrow morning, the second round being scheduled for the afternoon. The draw brings together Mrs. Hutchings and Mrs. H. B. Leuty, the latter of Marine Drive, in the top bracket.

Mrs. Sweeney is drawn against Miss K. Farrell, a clubmate. Victoria is represented in the title flight by three well-known players in Mrs. F. Wilding, Mrs. E. Jackson, and Mrs. J. Hutchings. The latter is matched with Mrs. R. Gelliey, of Jericho Club, while Mrs. Jackson is paired with Mrs. Forgan, of the same club.

Wilding meets Mrs. D. R. McLean. Mrs. Hutchings played consistent golf to win her laurels. Only once did she fall in the four rounds, this being on the eleventh hole.

However, the remainder of her play was practically faultless and she came through in brilliant style. Two birdies and ten pars fell before the champion's steady stroking and she was over par figures by one on five other holes. Her subpar holes were the seventh and sixteenth.

Mrs. Sweeney's performance was almost as brilliant, but she was slightly unsteady on the outward journey, requiring forty-five strokes. She was much more effective coming home, carding a forty-three. She

TAKES TEN ON TENTH

Of the visitors, the play of Mrs. J. Hutchings, of Victoria, was outstanding. While she required 95 strokes to tour the 6,245 yards, she had a 10 on her card, coming to grief on the tenth hole. Normally her card would have been about five strokes better.

GALLANT FOX WILL BE AMONG STARTERS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—With the Kentucky Derby only four days off, speculation today centred of the number of thoroughbreds that would go to the post when the bugle sounds "Ready, go!" at the fifth race at Churchill Downs Saturday.

This $50,000 added mile and one-quarter speed and endurance test this year is not expected to have a record field. Nineteen horses, at colla, were listed today among the probable starters, with likelihood that several would be withdrawn before Saturday, bringing the number to accept the issue down to fifteen or less.

The probable Derby field, as compiled today, listing nineteen colts, all carrying the Derby weight of 126 pounds, looked something like this:

VANCOUVER SOCCER

VANCOUVER, May 13.—St. Andrew's may be forced to beat Vancouver United after all, if they championship of the Vancouver and District Football League. St. Andrew's won the second of the three games they must get to stay in the running for the title tonight, defeating the United 7-3.

At one stage of the game, however, it looked as though the Scotmen would be saved the bother of winning from United to make sure of the title. The United were bothering them plenty, and twice took the lead. In the first half Fred Rocks put them ahead, 1-0, but Ernie Bradbury tied it up before the end of the first half. From then on, however, it was more or less a parade.

EVOLUTION
(Just a trifle in the manner of Langdon Smith)
You were a bushier and I was the acorn.
Back in a Class D League,
And side by side in the battle's tide
We fought through a year's fatigue,
Or hammered many a three-base hit,
Or whirled to a double play,
Our hearts were filled with the game that thrilled
And beckoned us on the way.
Careless we lived and careless we played,
And careless at last we came
To the blinding glow of life's big show,
And the flare and the glare of fame:
And loud they cheered as they ruled the field,
Gods of a golden age
Who were born to dwell through a single speck of time
And rule on the printed page.
And that seems a million years ago—
In a time we know not when
And here today in the same old way
We tell in the bush again:
Our eyes are bright and our chests are thick.
Our hair is dark as jet—
Our years are few—our life is new,
Our souls united—and yet—
Our trail extends from Fort Wayne field
To the sod of the polo grounds;
We have heard the cheers of a thousand years
That come as a dream reborn;
But our arms are gone and our legs are bad.
And here in the cast-off cleft
Pushing the edge of the yawning ledge,
What is the next move left?

THE SECOND CROWN
Glennia Collett, the women's golf champion of the United States, will make her greatest bid next week to take over the British women's title and return home wearing two crowns. The big show opens at 8:30 on Monday and there will be a strong field ready to start. Miss Collett is unquestionably the best of the lot in a championship test. She has proved this by winning the United States title four times and by giving Joyce Wethered two of her hardest battles over British turf.
Miss Collett must face a formidable collection of rivals, including Miss Evelyn Van Wie and Quier from her own land. There will be such British stars as Miss Gouglar, Enid Wilson and others capable of fine golf. But with Joyce Wethered, the nonpareil of the links, missing, the American star has the greatest chance she has yet known to crack the ancient hoodoo and be the first United States woman golfer to bring back home the hitherto baffling coronet. As the women will be the thick of their own war while the two Walker Cup teams are scrapping at Sandwich, there will be more than the usual amount of golf excitement breaking out in the next six or seven days.

THE VALUABLE HACKER
Sun field or no sun field, there are ball players who contribute as much to a ball club, day after day and week after week, as the earnest Hack Wilson, of the Cubs.
By giving something like one hundred per cent of all he has to give through every inning of every game, he has the knack of hornoring into the picture at the most vital moment with some sort of blow that does the Cubs a lot of good.
Hack cannot only tap the ball but he can out-hustle any two hard workers in the course of an afternoon. He is almost sure to be one of the most dangerous rivals the Giants will face through the series now popping in Chicago. They can surround Hack at times but they can't keep him surrounded.
Baseball with Hack is something more than a profession. It is the final expression of his heart and soul.

N.H.L. Draft Price Comes Under Fire

TORONTO, Ont., May 13.—Declining to accept the draft price of $5,000 until he has consulted the club owners of his circuit, President Charles S. King, of the International Hockey League at the meeting here yesterday, gave the National Hockey League no assurance that any price less than $7,500 would be acceptable. There was, however, no open break, and, in view of the fact that all other minor leagues—the Canadian-American, the American Association, the Pacific Coast loop, and the California, agreed to the old order of things, it is likely that, after reflection, the International will fall into line. It is known that some of the magnates are bitterly opposed to the low draft price.

Goodly Number of Shares Are Marked Up on a Dull Stock Market at New York

NEW YORK, May 13.—Pool operators took the long side of a dull stock market today and succeeded in marking up a goodly number of shares. They had the best luck with the oils, but also fared well with the utility, chemical and steel issues as well as with the usual assortment of responsive specialties. Grains ranged from 2 to 5 points.

From the standpoint of volume, however, the market was the most quiet since late February. Sales dropped well below 3,000,000 shares. Rails were unusually apathetic. U.S. Steel closed about 2 points higher. Michigan rose 7. The rise in some of the specialties was spectacular.

Vulcan Detinning common climbed more than 21 points, while the "A" stock gained 18. J. I. Case rallied 18 1/2 net. International Salt 7, Allied Chemical 7 1/2 and General Railway Signal 5 1/4.

Standard Oil of New Jersey closed at 80 7/8 for a net rise of 4 3/8. Standard of California mounted 2 1/4 and Pan-American "B" 3 3/8, the latter making new high ground. Loew's advanced 1 3/4 to a new 1930 peak.

Irregularity marked the foreign currencies. Sterling slumped. The dullness of the last few days in the bond market was changed through another day with prices showing little inclination to change. The railroad group showed the greatest firmness, and made slight gains. Oil bonds were unusually active and moved forward.

Defeat of Doris Cambers Only Upset—Molly Gourlay and Glenna Collett Will Clash Today in Most Important Battle of Tournament

FORMBY, England, May 13.—The big field in the British women's golf championship tonight was reduced to thirty-two. Five Americans were eliminated from the tournament to date, leaving but seven of the United States invaders in the fourth round to play tomorrow morning. Two rounds will be played tomorrow, and when the day's play is done the quarter-finalists will emerge.

The five Americans defeated were Miss O. S. Hill, who won her second round match, but lost in the next; Miss Louise Fordyce, Miss F. Stiffel, Miss Peggy Watties and E. P. Leuban, who were eliminated in the second round.

Glenna Collett, Virginia Van Wie, Mrs. Leo Federman and Mrs. Stew. Hawley had to play their quarter-finals today. Each of these four had to surmount two obstacles to fight their way to the final round.

Tomorrow brings the serious stage of the championship. If the hopes of the Americans are running high, so are the expectations of the home guard, for only one leading British player has been eliminated, Miss Doris Chambers, former champion, defeated by Miss Helen Hicks yesterday.

THE FEATURE MATCH
Hard matches are forecast for tomorrow, both morning and afternoon. One of the first serious international clashes among Miss Collett against Miss Molly Gourlay, English native champion and conqueror of the American champion in the informal matches at Sunningdale early this month.

The Americans are well scattered. Helen Hicks, who scored two victories by the same margin, seven up and five to play, has Mrs. Federman and either Maureen Orrcutt or Enid Wilson in her way. Miss Wilson, who will meet Miss Orrcutt if they both win their morning matches, toyed with her opponents today, scoring 35 out of the lowest count of the day on the first nine.

Miss Quir, the only American in the third quarter, has Diana Fick with her most dangerous rival, Miss Van Wie and Mrs. Hanley are in the fourth quarter, with Mrs. Hanley facing the most serious opposition.

One of the English casualties today was Miss Mabel Wragge, who defeated Miss Collett at Hurstport in 1928. She was beaten by Dr. Alexander at the eighteenth hole.

On the accepted theory that one day of sunshine is enough for a golf tournament in Great Britain, heavy mists spoiled the matches. However, the cleared and big galleries followed the feature matches in the afternoon. Earlier in the day the players unlimbered the umbrellas and battled their way through wind and rain.

Miss Margaret Lockhart, Canadian entrant from Montreal, was eliminated today. She was defeated by Sylvia Bailey, Great Britain, seven up and five to play, in the third round.

Three winners, Steve Donohue has ridden six winners. Other notable jockeys who rode horses to victory in the Derby were Goodison, Robinson, Tompkins, Wells, Arch. Waite, Maher, Childs and Reiff.

Horses owned by the Derby family have only finished in front twice at Epsom. Sir Peter Teazle won in 1787, and Sansovino, owned by the present Earl, won in 1924.

That was the Derby family's last win. The last time a horse owned by the family won was in 1900, with Diamond Jubilee. Once King Edward won in 1909, with Minerva.

Derby winners have been owned by the Derby family, and have been owned by the Derby family, and have been owned by the Derby family.

Among the great horses finishing first at Epsom were Ormonde, Flying Fox, King of the Wind, and others.

In 1884, Harvester and St. Gallen ran a dead heat. That was the first time the present Lord Derby had won at Epsom.

Joseph E. Widener said to me that he wished the Earl might have seen a Kentucky Derby with a bit better horses in it. He doesn't regard the present standard as a high one. He said that he would like to see some of the horses in the past.

But Lord Derby may see a great race in the first race he may see a fine field, and a Kentucky Derby never is won until the finish line is past. With perhaps twenty-five horses leaving the barrier, and the sharp turn of the track, anything can happen. Gallant Fox, Hope of the East, High Foot, Hope of the West, Bradley's Breeze, Thru and Thru, Buckeye, Post, Tannery, Desert Light, Gallant Knight, Kilkenny, Broadway Limited, That Son of a Man, War, Michigan Boy, Crack Bridge and Saracen II—will be in the race, so the Earl may get a first class thrill yet.

The Listening Post

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The city horse has disappeared in boned and in glue. But farm and race tracks still retain The blueblood, sweet and true. What other animal on earth. So many pages fills. In all the story of the world. With service and with thrills.

What would John Gilpin's ride have been. Or that of Lockbar. Or the brave ride from Ghent to Aix. If taken in a car? And when would be the old romance. If, through the early morn. Young Paul Revere had shifted gear. And looted on the horn?

A splendid, honest thoroughbred. Which gives the best he can—No reason for the standard. That was reserved for man. So, travel when and where you choose. On rails, or keels, or wings—But honor still the noble steed. Which makes the sport of kings.

The Kentucky Derby will be a tremendous sporting event this year with that fine and gracious gentleman and nobleman, Lord Derby, sitting in the special stand they have built for him. The Earl will frankly jubilate last Friday morning when he got a cable telling him his filly had won the 1,000 guineas in England.

Joseph E. Widener said to me that he wished the Earl might have seen a Kentucky classic with a bit better horses in it. He doesn't regard the present standard as a high one. He said that he would like to see some of the horses in the past.

Since Aristides first won it, in 1875, the Kentucky Derby has shown some great horses coming home in front. There was Hindoo, Elwood, Old Roadster, Regret, Omar Khayyam, Extremity, Sir Barton, Paul Jones, Behave Yourself, Myrtle, Zev, Black Gold, Flying Ebony, Reich Count and many another good one. Old Roadster won the mile and a quarter in the fastest time, 2:03 2-5.

There is one thing Lord Derby would like to have understood: He is not the Earl for whom the Epsom Derby was named. That was a quite distant ancestor. The race was originated in 1780. Lord Derby denies emphatically that he goes that far back. The first race was won by Diomed, with S. Arnall up. The Arnalls must have been a family of good jockeys. S. Arnall rode four Derby winners; J. Arnall rode

THE IRON AND MASHIE SHOTS REQUIRE A LOOSE GRIP-AS WITH WOODS

Should the club be gripped more firmly when playing the iron than when playing with wooden clubs?

Answered by WILLIAM MELHORN

The club is not gripped more firmly in playing iron and mashie shots than when playing wooden clubs. You need more control in playing to the green, as you do with the iron, than at any other time; gripping more firmly will probably lose you this control. True the ball is struck more firmly with iron clubs because the swing is shorter and the club is shorter, allowing you to hit your ball more with the hands. The shot may look firmer than it actually is because you are hitting the ball a sharply descending blow and taking time to give a true flight to the ball.

Chatterer changed his mind

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Some times there are, as you will find, When it is wise to change your mind. Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel had taken it into his head to visit the little swamp at the head of the Smiling Pool. Peter had what he called the Spritling fever. It was him want to wander about. He wasn't looking for anything in particular, but he just couldn't keep still in one place. So he had taken it into his head to wander down to the little swamp where the Laughing Pool flows into the Smiling Pool. He just wanted to know what was going on down there. He wanted to know if there were any new Spring arrivals.

Part of the time Chatterer traveled on the ground in little short rushes, always ending close to a tree. Part of the time he traveled in the treetops. So it was that at last he came to a tree close by the nest of Mrs. Quack. A branch of that tree was directly over the nest. It happened just by chance that Chatterer stopped under a branch to rest a while. He was tired and he stretched himself out along that branch.

Now, Chatterer's eyes are very bright and he doesn't miss much. As he lay stretched out on that branch, those bright eyes of his were watching below. At first he saw nothing at all of interest. Then he caught a slight movement. It wasn't much, but it was a movement. And any movement that is not made by the wind, or by a drifting shadow—such as a cloud makes—is of immediate interest to the little people of the Green Forest and the Meadows. Chatterer leaned forward and watched. Again he saw that movement and then he saw what had made it. He saw Mrs. Quack half hidden by the big leaves of a skunk cabbage. She had turned her head to smooth some feathers on her back. Instantly, Chatterer understood what it meant. Mrs. Quack had a nest hidden there. A nest meant eggs, and Chatterer was another small person who is interested in eggs.

Chatterer's tail began to twitch. He scrambled to his feet and ran down that tree. From the trunk of the tree Mrs. Quack was quite hidden. There was nothing for it but to go down on the ground. He just must find out if he was right about that nest. If he was, there might be a chance to steal one of those eggs. So Chatterer kept on down to the ground and then slipped underneath those big, broad leaves of the skunk cabbage plants. He didn't take him a minute to find out that he had been right. There, nicely hidden beneath the big leaves, was Mrs. Quack's nest, and Mrs. Quack was on it. Chatterer couldn't wait for the Spritling fever. He was so close to the nest that he was able to see what was going on. Chatterer's mouth began to twitch. How he did wish that Mrs. Quack would get off that nest. He began to wonder how he might get her off. But, though he thought and thought, he couldn't think of any way that he could get Mrs. Quack off that nest. She hadn't seen him yet, for he had been very quiet. He was back of her now and he began to wonder if he might be able to tear away part of the nest and steal an egg right from under Mrs. Quack. Anyway, it would do no harm to try.

So Chatterer crept forward inch by inch. He made no sound. Inch by inch he crept until he was right back of the nest. There was a little clump of alders that the nest backed up against. Chatterer had crept up behind these alders. Now he reached out a paw and began pulling at the back of that nest. All the time his mouth would water more and more as he thought what a feast one of those eggs would provide. Perhaps, thinking of those eggs, Chatterer made a little careless. Any way, something happened and it happened with great suddenness, and right then and there Chatterer changed his mind. He didn't want any eggs. All he wanted was to get away from there. Mrs. Quack had turned suddenly and struck him a hard blow with that stout bill of

USE DRIED FRUITS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

Dried fruits are almost indispensable during the Winter and Spring months before the fresh fruits can be obtained, but they can also be used to advantage from a health standpoint every day in the year.

Dried fruits have these points in their favor: They are allowed to ripen on the tree and attain a full flavor and food value, while fresh fruit on the other hand is often picked green for shipping. No poisoning has ever been known to result from using dried fruits even when they are not strictly fresh. Dried fruits have also the advantage of keeping well, they have less acid than fresh fruits, and a greater food value.

The dried fruits make wholesome substitutes for children, as they are natural and harmless sweets, offering a natural fruit sugar which is quickly and easily taken up by the body. Much of the fruit starch is slowly transferred into sugar by the ripening process.

One should never use the dried fruits which have been prepared with sulphur or other preservatives. The best dried fruit is prepared by dehydration at a low temperature since the vitamins are best retained by this measure. The next best process is the sun dried fruit. Dried fruits contain large quantities of valuable minerals, and all of them have a laxative tendency, especially prunes and figs. The dried fruits may be featured by the housekeeper who is figuring up some low-cost menus. They are in every case much lower than the fancy canned fruits. The price per pound may seem high when you are buying them, but you must remember that, as they are cooked they will soak up enough water so that their total bulk is greatly increased and you will serve much more than you buy. In many foods which you buy by weight you pay principally for water, but this is not so true with the dried fruits.

Many markets now feature the natural unsulphured fruits, which at one time were difficult to obtain because they do not keep as well as the sulphured type. As people are coming to realize their needs from a health standpoint and insist on the right kind of food, the stores must acquiesce. You can always tell whether or not packaged fruit has been sulphured, as the pure food laws require that the preservatives used be printed on the label. Here are a few ways of preparing dried fruits.

CASSEROLE OF FIGS
Thoroughly wash some dried figs and remove the stem ends. Put in a casserole with a small amount of hot water. Add a thin slice of lemon. Cover and bake for one hour. This may be served with cream. Prunes may be used in place of the figs if you desire. If you wish to cook apricots, peaches or the more acid fruits you may add a few dates for sweetening.

DRIED FRUIT SALAD
Any of the dried fruits may be cooked until soft, and when cold stuffed with cottage cheese. Serve on lettuce with a dash of whipped cream on top.

STUFFED PRUNES
Steam the prunes for about twenty minutes and remove the seeds. Next, grind a half cupful of seeded dates, one-fourth cupful of nut meats, and a teaspoonful of citron peel together and put through the grinder twice. Knead well and stuff the prunes. Dry in a moderate oven.

STUFFED DATES
Wash equal amounts of seeded prunes, figs and seedless raisins and put through the food chopper two or three times. Remove the date seeds and stuff the dates with this mixture.

PRUNE WHIP
Cut thoroughly cooked prunes into small pieces and fold into the well beaten whites of eggs. Serve cold, with a little whipped cream if desired. The whip may also be placed in the oven and baked until slightly browned on top, and served warm or cold. Any of the other dried fruits may be served in this manner, such as apricots, peaches, pears, dates, etc.

PARROTS WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO ENTER DOMINION

OTTAWA, Ont., May 13 — An order-in-council issued by the Department of Agriculture under the authority of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act prohibits the importation into Canada of parrots, parakeets, cockatoos, macaws, lorries, jaks and love birds.

This step announced today was deemed necessary by the Department of National Health as a measure toward the control of an outbreak of psittacosis, or parrot fever, in British Columbia. Up to the present time eleven cases have been reported from Pacific Coast ports in that province.

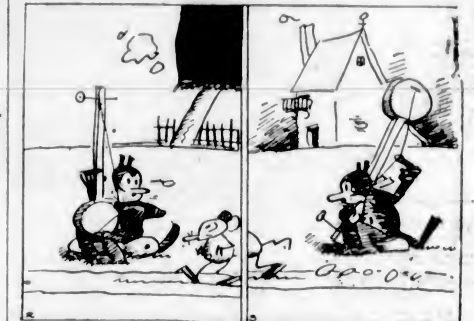

Psittacosis is a disease affecting the lungs and respiratory system, the Department of National Health points out, the general symptoms being essentially similar to those of pneumonia.

During the months of March and April a total of 112 birds of the various parrot species have been brought into Canada by sailors and believed these imported sailor pets have been the cause of the disease coming into Canada.

NANAIMO LOSES CRICKET MATCH

New Season Opens With Cumberland Opposing Nanaimo—Scoring Is Low

CUMBERLAND, May 13.—The Cumberland cricketers opened their season on Sunday by defeating the Nanaimo eleven. Nanaimo batted first, the bowling being entrusted to McLaughlin and Vernon-Jones. Both bowlers were successful in their first overs, obtaining a wicket each. McLaughlin was exceptionally successful, taking three wickets for only three runs. Unsworth, the captain of the Nanaimo eleven, was misused by Gough off Vernon-Jones' bowling after scoring only 2 runs. Following his "life" he played careful cricket for a valuable 22 before being bowled by McLaughlin. Gough relieved Vernon-Jones after the last 4 wickets for 10 runs, the whole side being dismissed for 55 runs.

After lunch, Cumberland batted. Idema and Dando facing the bowling of Armstrong and Mowbray. Disaster soon came to the visitors, 3 wickets being down for 11 runs. McLaughlin made a useful stand, making 17 by vigorous hitting before being dismissed by Unsworth. Gough was well taken, but was dismissed making 11. The score stood at 9 wickets, Carney and Vernon-Jones being the last wicket. These two made a good last-wicket stand, making 30 runs before Carney was bowled by Heaton for the top score of 24. Sergeant Florence, in giving evidence, stated that the accused was living in a barn on Douglas Street. The first notification which led the police to suspect Luke materialized through the agency of a small boy, who reported that he had seen the accused deposit a parcel between a fence and a chicken house. Upon this parcel being examined by the authorities it was found to contain an overcoat and two women's nightdresses.

Horne meat consumption in France has risen in the last five years from 250,000 to 300,000 head a year, and the price has advanced to fourteen cents a pound.

THE OTHER HALF
A councillor lost his temper during a meeting and remarked that half his colleagues were fools. An apology was demanded. He promised to make reparation, and caused bills with the following wording to be posted around the town:
"I said that half the town councillors are fools. I now declare that half the town councillors are not fools."
